

The Project:

Paint and wall covering entire department store interior.

The Challenge:

Painting and wall covering while this exclusive high end retailer was in operation.

The Peak Performance:

Careful orchestration and planning of work crew providing painting and wall covering throughout. The challenge was to minimize interruption and ultimately taking extra care when working over items like fur coats costing some $90,000. Needless to say, lots of protective covering was carefully placed. Selection of the right products and materials were also paramount in the project.
